

Virtual Northwest Bank Directors Series

February - November 2022

About

This nine-session virtual Northwest Bank Directors Series is designed to meet the educational needs for both new and existing directors. The series is an excellent opportunity for bank directors to enhance their understanding of their evolving responsibilities. Participants will gain insight into industry hot topics and emerging trends, as well as primers on banking fundamentals and governance issues. The first four sessions are geared toward new directors or those seeking a refresher. The remaining sessions are new topics of interest to all directors and bank executives. While taking place virtually, the sessions are all live and interactive.
